

SCOTCH TASTING

& Great Appetizers by Karen Caird
at the Havurah

Rabbi David says, "Jews and Scotch have a long history together. It was the whisky of choice for many immigrant Jews coming to America. Today in many synagogues it is a favorite beverage for making l'chaims (toasts) and blessings. I'll be sharing some of that history at our gathering."

Quannah Combs, CSS will give us at least 10 different top Scotches to taste and teach us the history and background of each one.

Quannah Combs, CSS, will be speaking about the history and tradition of distilling Scotch Whisky. Quannah has been involved with the alcohol beverage industry for almost 16 years, and completed his certification from the Society of Wine Educators to become a Certified Specialist of Spirits in March of 2013. He will explain single malts, blends, techniques and ingredients and how those effect the finished product. Whiskeys from the Dewar's, Glenfiddich and Balvenie lines will be showcased, and he will field questions and provide samples for those interested in tasting.

The Havurah is located at 185 N. Mountain Ave. in Ashland. Call 541-488-7716 for tickets.
